

History of the Seaside

Where did people go in the past?

People have been going on holiday to the seaside for hundreds of years. Most people would go to a British seaside, to places such as Blackpool, by train. This was because flying to another country wasn't an option.

What did people do at the seaside?

People liked to go to the beach and enjoyed watching a show called Punch and Judy. There were band stands where a band would play. Some beaches had piers with shops and arcades. Small children liked to ride on donkeys.

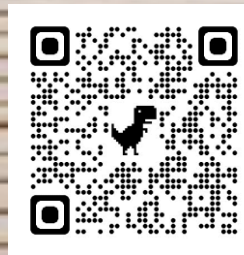

Grace Darling

Grace Darling was born 1815. When she was ten her family moved to live in a lighthouse on Longstone. When she was older she helped her father to look after the lantern, mend fishing nets and keep a watch out for boats in danger.

- On 7th September 1838, a paddle steamer (boat) was sailing from Hull to Dundee.
- It was carrying 60 passengers.
- It was a rough, stormy night and the boat hit the rocks.
- Lots of people died when it crashed.
- William and Grace Darling decided to row out to rescue them.
- They helped all of the survivors onto the boat.
- They took them back to the lighthouse and looked after them.

Scan here to go to the beach with Magic Grandad!

Scan here to find out more about
Grace Darling

The Seaside

Reception

Term 3.2

What do I already know?

What sand and water are and what they feel like.

Name some sea creatures including a shark and a fish.

A video of Southwold Seaside

Important Words - seaside – an area that is by the sea, a place where people go for the day or for a holiday.

coast – the area where the land and sea meet.

cliff – a high, steep rock wall, often found by the sea.

beach – a strip of sand or small rocks next to the sea.

ocean – a huge area of salt water.

lifeboat station

promenade

pier

caravan park

hotel

lighthouse

What jobs do people have by the seaside?

- Lifeguards and coastguards
- Ice cream seller
- Hotel workers
- A waiter or a waitress in a seaside café
- Fisherman

The seaside is made up of physical features and human features.

Physical Features:

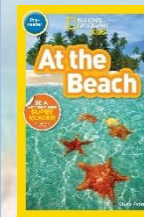

Physical features are things that are naturally in the environment.

Physical features can include a beach, cliff, ocean and sand dunes.

Some books to share

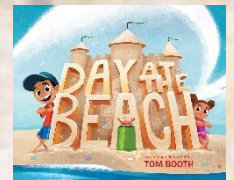

Clean Up - Nathan Bryon

At the Beach – Shira Evans

Day at the Beach

- Tom Booth

Human Features:

Human features are created by humans.

Human features may include a pier, promenade, restaurants, cafes, shops, beach huts and light houses.

